STOCKS HELD

AMOUNT OF BUSINESS ON NEW YORK 'CHANGE, HOWEVER, SMALL.

Trading Well Distributed Among the List-Indianapolis Grain Continnes Active.

At New York, yesterday, money on call was easy at 1 per cent.

Prime mercantile paper, 24/941/2 per cent. Sterling exchange was dull and easier, with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.88% for demand and at $4.87%@4.87% for sixty days; posted rates, $4.8814@4.90; commercial bills, $4.86%.

Silver certificates, 64@65c. Bar silver 'closed at 62%c per ounce; at London, 28%d. Total sales of stocks were 94,399 shares. Speculation was very dull yesterday and the volume of business was lighter than on any day for weeks past. The tone of the market was firm and the trading distributed more generally through the list than usual. London was a buyer of most of the arbitrage stocks and the local commission houses did quite a little business on the bull side of the market. American securities were in better demand on London Stock Exchange and there was a general air of improvement. The better tone made through the newspapers by President Cleveland as to the condition of the na-tional finances. The confident manner in which the President spoke of the affairs of the Treasury Department seemed to have the effect at home and abroad of stimulating purchases of American securities, and in this market it induced the covering of short contracts. St. Paul led in point of activity and was bought for the foreign account quite freely during the morning. advancing 14 and the improvement was well maintained. Rock Island advanced %. Chicago Gas was weak in the early dealings and sold down %, but reports to the effect that a settlement of the differ-ences between the company and the State officials of Illinois was imminent induced purchases which caused an advance of 1%, the final sale being % below the best price of the day. Considerable Missouri Pacific stock came out during the day between 25% and 26%. The close was only higher than on Monday. The unloading in Atchison goes on steadily, but the ourchasers and the last price is ¼ above Monday. St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba lost 3½ on a sale of one hundred shares. Lead preterred declined 2½: Consolidated Gas, 1¼ and Pullman, 1. The railway and miscellaneous bond market was steady in the morning and weak in the afternoon, the principal changes being: Declines—Louisville & Nashville, S. & N. Alabama granted fives, Kansas Paclfic sixes of '95 and sixes of '96, 2; Chesapeake & Ohio four-and-a-halfs, 14; Chicago & Eastern Illinois firsts and Wiscon-

Equitable Gas, of Chicago, sixes, 4; Erie

second consol trust receipts, 11/2; Atchison bonds were dull.

LOCAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE. Trade in Most Lines Quiet and Prices

Holding Steady.

In most departments trade is slow. Dry goods men are doing little and do not expect to do much for a few weeks. On Commission row there is a good deal of activity. The favorable weather for growing vegetables and fruits causes large receipts, and consequently prices are weak and unsettled, unless for very choice stock. Lemons are the only article in the fruit line selling at luxury prices, some as high as $5.50 per box and extra choice at $6. Oranges are about off the market, except a few Messinas. Young chickens are scarce and in demand. The provision market is unusually active and prices on all descriptions firmer than for many months past.

WHEAT DOWN AGAIN

AND NEARLY 1-2C LOWER.

Corn Slightly Off, but Oats Were Firm and Higher, While Provisions Were a Shade Lower.

CHICAGO, June 26 .- It was a dull day in all things speculative. The small business done was principally on local account, and consisted largely of changing over July contracts into September. The closing moments caught wheat at its weakest, %@ 1/2c below the close of the day before. Corn wound up with only 1/3c decline. Oats were firm and closed 1c higher for June, 1/2c higher for July and 4c higher for September. Provisions were a shade lower.

Wheat was nervous and unsettled within a range of %c. The opening was quiet, but the free selling by a prominent local operator and other professionals carried prices down. The offerings were well absorbed and a rally followed. The stronger continental cables, smaller European supplies, bad crop news from the Northwest and continued heavy rains in part of the winter wheat belt where harvesting is in progress combined to make the situation strong. Liverpool cables were, however, lower, and foreigners were credited with selling freely at the seaboard. The elevator interests, too; were said to be offering July quite freely. The close was dull, even Bradstreet's statement showing a decrease of 4,518,000 bu in the world's visible supply could not inject life into it. Corn opened unchanged for September, and, with firm domestic markets, advanced 4c, eased off %c on easier cables and light exports; rallied 4c on the decrease on ocean passage, closing steady.

Oats were active and weaker in the early trading in sympathy with corn, but later fears of a wet harvest caused shorts to cover, sending prices up %c, and the close was at top figures, with a gain over yesterday's last quotations of %@lc for the various futures. rious futures.

Provisions were very dull throughout. The market was weak for a time in sympathy with the depression in live hogs, but a little buying later caused some firmness, and the close was at about outside figures Vessel rates were steady at 1c for corn

Feeding for Wool. Philadelphia Inquirer. We talk of feeding for mutton, feeding for milk and feeding for eggs, but an equally important subject, feeding for wool, is seldom discussed. We must feed for wool just as much as we feed for any other product of the animals, and the sooner we learn this the better and larger supply of fleece will we obtain from our sheep. One of the first signs of ill nealth in animals is for their hair to drop out and to stop growing. A poorly nourished hen will lose many of her feathers, a sickly cow will drop her hair, and sheep that are not properly fed will yield such a small crop of wool that it hardly pays to keep them. Many sheep owners are troubled with the dropping of wool from their flocks, and various causes are assigned. The chief cause, however, is poor nourishment of their bodies. Good wool is made only at the expense of the strength of the sheep, and it takes up fully one-half of the food assimilated in many respects it takes more ilated. In many respects it takes more good food to make good wool than good flesh. Wool has only 15 per cent. water, and flesh has about 75 per cent. An analysis of flesh and wool shows that in the same quantity there are more solids in wool than in flesh, and that more nourishment must be given to the animal to produce the former than the latter. When the animal is supplied with a heavy crop as much food as when this is clipped. It is true that the heavy crop of wool con-serves animal heat, but in warm weather this is a detriment rather than a benefit. Wool contains considerable sulphur, and this must naturally be supplied with the food in order to make the wool perfect. If sheep are poorly fed it soon affects the skin of the animal, for the muscle and heat must be kept up anyway. The first of the food goes for this purpose, and if there is no nourishment left for the wool the skin suffers, and then the roots of the fleece. Consequently, many sheep that are fed just enough to keep their systems barely healthful produce ragged and poor fleece. If a little more nourishing food was given the fleece would do better. Every weak spot in the fleece is the result of some irregularity in the feeding, some neglect or mismanagement. Sheep that are properly fed seldom worry their owners by dropping their wool. Weakness of fibre is ruinous to the wool, and this is also caused by poor feeding. The buyers of wool test every sample, and if the wool is not strong it must be sold as "breaks," which is fit only for felting, and not for the spinner. This grade of wool sells very cheap, and hardly pays the sheep owners. It is very difficult to say how much nourishing good sheep need, but an examination of the wool quite frequently will enable one to arrive at some pretty definite conclusion. By watching the wool and feeding for it, we are also sure to keep the sheep in excellent condition so far as nourishment is con-cerned. The trouble will first show itself in the fleece.
